

Posted on Fri, Apr. 01, 2011

Equine rescue group in need of hay

Eagle staff

WICHITA — Hope in the Valley Equine Rescue and Sanctuary took in 13 animals on Thursday and is looking for some assistance in feeding them.

The group, based in Valley Center, needs big round bales of prairie hay and big round bales of brome hay. The group is a nonprofit, so donations are tax deductible. It prefers that the hay be delivered.

The group, which is caring for 34 animals, rescues and rehabilitates horses in Sedgwick County and surrounding communities that have been abused, neglected, abandoned or are unwanted.

For more information, contact Chasity Kuffler at 316-650-4807.

© 2011 Wichita Eagle and wire service sources. All Rights Reserved. <http://www.kansas.com>